

Who are we?

The Bella Moss Foundation is a registered charity. All money received goes towards supporting new research into MRSA and other serious infections in companion animals.

The Foundation's main aims are to:

- Provide information, advice and CPD to veterinary practice teams
- Support and publicise research into MRSA and other serious infections affecting companion animals
- Provide owner support and education
- To work towards a specialist referral centre to treat pets suffering from MRSA and other serious infections

Janssen Animal Health is an animal health company that is part of the Johnson & Johnson group. One of its key specialities is in the area of companion animal dermatology.

Janssen Animal Health, with Surolan™ for the treatment of otitis externa, is delighted to partner the Bella Moss Foundation in presenting these MRSA seminars.

Surolan is a licensed trademark. Legal category POM-V

An invitation to

The MRSA seminars

Take a closer look at how you can protect your practice against the threat of MRSA

An invitation

The MRSA Seminars

Janssen Animal Health and the Bella Moss Foundation, in association with IDEXX Laboratories, would like to invite you and your team to a 1 day MRSA seminar specifically aimed at the veterinary profession.

MRSA is becoming an increasing threat in veterinary medicine.

These seminars aim to educate the veterinary team about the transmission, monitoring and treatment of MRSA in the clinic and to provide useful advice to prevent MRSA becoming a problem.

Seven seminars have been organised across the UK (see over). The U.K.'s leading experts in MRSA research and monitoring will ensure you receive the most accurate and up-to-date information. There will also be plenty of time for questions.
